

On The Wings of Eagles

July 2006

RENOWNED PHOTOGRAPHER THOMAS D. MANGELSEN IS 2006 ALASKA BALD EAGLE FESTIVAL'S PHOTOGRAPHER OF THE YEAR!

Devoted to a lifetime of documenting the natural world, Thomas D. Mangelsen is one of the world's premier nature photographers.

Driven by expressing the beauty and intricacy of the wilderness, Tom spends up to nine months a year in the field documenting the wild lands and creatures he so cares about. With a background in wildlife biology, he works both in cinematography and in still photography, mediums that he believes will touch people on an emotional level and move them to love and protect these fragile places and animals.

All of Tom's limited edition prints have been captured in the wild, not in captive situations or "game farms", and they are presented in their true form without computer manipulation. In 2005 Tom was named one of the 100 most important people in photography by American Photo Magazine as well as being honored with Nikon's Legend Behind the Lens recognition. He has received an Honorary Fellowship from The Royal Photographic Society in 2002, named North American Nature Photographer Association's (NANPA) Outstanding Nature Photographer of the Year in 2000 and in 1994, Mangelsen received the prestigious BBC Wildlife Photographer of the Year Award.

His work has also been published in leading magazines such as Audubon, National Geographic, Life, Wildlife Art, American Photo and Nikon World. He has been featured on television programs from The Today Show and Good Morning America, to CNN's World News.

His images have been exhibited in museums across the United States, Canada, and Europe, and are available in seventeen Images of Nature® galleries across the United States.

Mr. Mangelsen will be leading a two-day photography field session during the November, 2006 Alaska Bald Eagle Festival in Haines, Alaska. Don't miss this opportunity to learn from a master photographer. Register for the Festival today at www.baldeagelfestival.org and sign up for this once-in-a-lifetime experience!

